Tourist rush bonanza for Ambaari trips

From 282 passengers in February to 1,498 from May 1 to 27, rooftop travel becomes a favourite activity

Mysuru, May 28 (RK&BCT)- A steady stream of tourists coming to the city, especially during weekends and holidays, has popularised the 'Ambaari' double-decker hop-on and hop-off tourist bus trips. The bus provides a new platform for experiencing and exploring the royal city's heritage wonders.

The bus service, initiated by Karnataka State Tourism Development Corporation (KSTDC), was gathering dust with no response post-COVID though it was launched with much fanfare. The decision to shift the bus stop from the KSTDC Office (Hotel Mayura Hoysala) on JLB Road to the Mysore Palace South Gate for more visibility has made all the difference.

Tourists enjoying Ambaari bus ride this morning.

KSTDC Managing Director G. Jagadeesha, who has the experience of serving the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), feeling the pulse of the people took a decision to shift the bus parking facility from JLB Road to Mysore Palace. He also reduced the fare from Rs. 250 to Rs. 150.

Now, many tourists, who come to the Palace, see the bus parked at South Gate, enquire about the city trips and buy tickets from the KSTDC staff present there.

KSTDC officers told SOM that ever since the bus service was shifted to Palace South Gate on 12.2.2022, the response has been great. Palace South Gate is an ideal location for the bus as tourists who come there can see the bus, enticing them to go on city rounds. While one bus leaves the place for the city tour, another bus comes there immediately and trips are rotated, officers said.

Of the six Ambaari buses stationed in Mysuru, only two operate the tours. "We are ready to add more buses to the fleet depending on the response," they said. From Feb. 12 to Feb. 28, a total of 282 tourists boarded the bus and in March, the number went up to 774. The month of April saw 1,170 persons opting for the city tour and from May 1 till May 28, a total of 1,498 tourists have enjoyed the bus ride.

Mango Mela turns sweet for mobile thieves too

Couple of costly gadgets missing in the melee; customers say no CCTV surveillance

Mysuru, May 28 (SBD&BCT)- The three-day Mango Mela that began at Kuppanna Park in city yesterday turned extra sweet for mobile phone thieves as they managed to snatch a couple of mobile phones from customers who were immersed in selecting mangoes and tasting samples handed out to them by the growers.

There has been a good response to the Mela organised by the Horticulture Department and the Zilla Panchayat.

The Mela attracted huge crowds in the evening and the brightly lit Kuppannna Park also extended an open invitation to hundreds of tourists who had come to the city. Also, many regular walkers too went there to carry the fruits home.

A scene from the Mango Mela venue this morning.

Srinivas, a resident of Jayalakshmipuram, told Star of Mysore that four to five customers who came to buy mangoes lost their mobile phones. His wife Shobha told this newspaper that seeing the crowds, the thieves had grabbed the opportunity.

"We had gone to the Mela at 6 pm and there were heavy footfalls. We went around two to three outlets, checking out the varieties. By then, my husband realised that his mobile phone, kept in his pocket, was missing. We went back to the shops but we could not find the gadget," Shobha said. She said that four to five other people too were searching for their mobile phones. One of the customers said that while tasting samples, he had kept the phone on a table and it went missing in a jiffy.

"Someone called the Police Control Room and the staff informed us that a Garuda team will come to help us retrieve the stolen mobiles. The team came after 30 minutes and asked us to file a complaint along with the details of the phone, its make and other documents. As all the documents were at home, we did not lodge a complaint," Shobha said.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Mid-day meals are no doubt a great education innovation in India, well-fed children learn better, and for poor parents, a free meal for their child is an incentive to send the child to school. But what if there are no lessons to be learnt? A report highlighted how shiksha mitra Neelam Rathore manages students aged 6 to 12 at a Firozabad, UP government primary school all by herself. Records show a healthy enrolment even as this school has become only a mid-day meal booth, and there are hundreds of others like it across UP. And the problem extends across several States.

Last year a UNESCO analysis of the Unified District Information System for Education data found around 7% of schools to be single-teacher schools, with as many as 89% of these in rural areas. Likewise, of the 19% of schools that were estimated to have vacancies, 69% were in rural areas. Bihar at 56%, Jharkhand at 40% and UP at 33% topped the vacancies table. Wouldn't a single qualified teacher be better than an untrained para-teacher? Yes, but not if the teacher has to cook meals. UP's basic Education Minister Sandeep Singh, responding to the report, said the government will identify schools operated by shiksha mitras and appoint permanent teachers there soon, while the mitras will continue as support staff. But every day until this happens, students at these schools will go without learning anything.

A general problem in State-level politicians' low incentives for improving local schools — welfare, quotas and public works draw more votes. Delhi's government schools are an example to the contrary. The government is effectively a local government, and its incentives for improving government schools are high, because parents are voters. In other States, empowering local governments to run schools, and giving service users, parents, a voice is an experiment worth conducting. — In The Times of India

Paper plane that can glide over 77 metres

Daegu: A team of three origami and paper plane building enthusiasts recently obliterated the world record for the farthest paper plane flight by achieving a jaw-dropping distance of 77.134 mts (252 feet and 7 inches).

On Apr. 16, 2022, at an indoor sports venue in Daegu, South Korea, Kim Kyu Tae managed to shatter the world record for the longest paper plane flight with each one of his eight throws. The previous record of 69.14 mts (226 ft 10 in) set by Joe Ayoob and John M. Collins had been standing for a decade, but Kim managed to break it on all of his eight measured attempts (71.813 mts being the shortest and 77.134 m being the farthest). But Kim was just one part of a trio who worked hard on designing and building this simple-looking but remarkable paper plane.

Ram sentenced to jail for killing woman

Rumbek East County: Sudan authorities have sentenced a ram to three years in prison for hitting and killing an old woman.

According to reports, a ram in Rumbek East County charged at an elderly woman hitting her in the ribs and causing serious injuries that later proved fatal. It's unclear what possessed the animal to attack, but once it was identified as the culprit, the ram was taken into custody and sentenced to hard time. If humans had to go to prison every time they killed a goat, we would have to build so many more prisons, but when the roles are reversed for a change the poor animal has to answer for its actions.

Major Elijah Mabor said that the ram would spend the next three years in a military camp in Aduel County, while its owner, a neighbour and relative of the victim, will have to compensate the deceased's family by offering them five cows.

Plea to re-locate starving street dogs

Sir,

I am staying in Alanahalli area for the last 30 years and being a regular walker, my favourite walking route is via Lalitha Mahal and Helipad area.

Earlier, there were very few stray dogs in and around helipad but the numbers have gone up since three years.

Regular walkers, animal-lovers and people from a few NGOs would come to feed these dogs regularly.

But of late, the helipad area has become a private property and there is hardly any movement of people forcing these dogs to starve.

Will any NGOs or MCC officials concerned plan to re-locate these dogs or make some arrangements which may help these starving dogs.

Just five days before his retirement…

ACB sleuths trap MUDA Town Planner Member

He had demanded Rs. 3 lakh to approve a private layout; outsourced data entry operator too trapped

Mysuru, May 28 (RK&BCT)- Five days before his retirement, G.S. Jayasimha, Town Planner Member of Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA), was trapped by the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) Police yesterday for taking a bribe from a developer to approve a private layout.

Jayasimha was to retire on May 31 and the State Government had appointed R. Shesha, for the post.

Along with Jayasimha, Nagendra, an outsourced employee who was doing a data entry operator's job at MUDA, was also trapped. Jayasimha also served as Joint Director of City Planning.

Nagendra was caught for receiving the bribe on behalf of Jayasimha at about 12.35 pm.

Venugopal, a Bengaluru-based developer, had developed a private layout in Mysuru and he had applied for MUDA approval.

Jayasimha

Nagendra

Jayasimha and Nagendra allegedly demanded Rs. 3 lakh for layout approval and had already taken Rs. 1 lakh as bribe.

Venugopal had told the ACB sleuths that Jayasimha, through Nagendra, was pestering him for the remaining amount.

The ACB laid a trap and the officers were caught along with Rs. 50,000. The sleuths had caught Nagendra from the Town Planning section when he was heading towards the chamber where Jayasimha sat.

As proof of the bribe, Venugopal had submitted the audio conversation where the money was demanded and also the audio where it was confirmed that a payment of Rs. 1 lakh has been made. The mobile phones containing the audios have been seized. ACB Dy.SP Thammaiah led the raids and also involved fellow MUDA officers as witnesses.

The MUDA officers were dismayed to see the trapping incident as Jayasimha was caught just five days before his retirement. Recently, a verbal duel had broken out between Jayasimha and Venugopal regarding the layout approval.

The ACB sleuths produced both Jayasimha and Nagendra in front of a Magistrate last evening and have been sent to judicial custody. The ACB Inspector and seven other staff participated in the trapping operation.

AAP to hold Grama Samparka Campaign

Mysuru, May 28- In order to strengthen the organisation at rural and grassroots level, a 'Grama Samparka Abhiyana' will be launched on May 29, said Malavika Gubbivani, Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) Mysuru District President.

Addressing a press meet at Pathrakartara Bhavan on Thursday, Malavika said that a public meeting is being held at Pandit Narayanacharya Kalyana Mantapa on Chamaraja Double Road at 11 am on Sunday.

People who wish to join AAP can call the Helpline number 88844-31221 or send a WhatsApp message and get in touch with the party, she said.

Village-level contact programme will be held all over the State and in Mysuru district too it will reach the villages.

Farmer leader Kodihalli Chandrashekar of Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha and Hasiru Sene has expressed full support to AAP and it is expected that farmers will support AAP in a big way, she said.

"On learning that his own Minister has demanded 1% commission on tenders, the AAP Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Singh Mann has dismissed the Minister from the Cabinet and ordered an investigation. The CM has set an example even before the report could reach the media or the Opposition could demand his dismissal. But in Karnataka, several Ministers are facing serious allegations of corruption and demand for their ouster but the Government has not taken any action. People must throw out corrupt BJP Government and bring in an honest AAP Government," she said.

District Media Coordinator G.R. Vidyaranya, Women's Wing President Usha Sampathkumar, Dharnashree, Renukaprasad, Mohammed Ismail and Kumar were present at the press meet.

Meeting

AAP will be organising a Zonal office-bearers meet on Sunday (May 29) at 11.30 am at Pandit Narayanacharya Kalyana Mantapa auditorium, Chamaraja Double Road. AAP State Secretary Darshan Jain will preside.

Driving Crazy

Mysuru is the No. 1 city in the country, and no, it's not for being the cleanest city in India. We lost that claim a while ago, and now we are the No. 1 city in India for something else — for having the worse drivers!

Zoomcar, India's biggest self-drive rental car company, surveyed 22 cities using its proprietary drive scoring system. The company collected close to 200 million data points and the result? Out of the top three worst drivers in Indian cities, two are from Karnataka — Mysuru No. 1 and Bengaluru No. 3.

How did we Mysureans become such bad drivers? It is perplexing because while we've been ranked as the worse drivers in the country, our city has a driving school on every second street! Are these schools not teaching driving properly? Or, are their services used more to get a licence "easily" rather than learning to operate a vehicle correctly and safely?

Two decades ago, for a fee, "agents" and "touts" around Regional Transport Office (RTO) would do the paperwork such as filling forms, attaching photos, getting stamps, seals etc. They would also do some "greasing" work to make the wheels of RTO move quicker such as getting data entry done faster and getting the Test Inspector's appointment at your convenience. But most RTO Test Inspectors would still be pretty strict and make sure you knew your driving basics well before he signed off on you. Things have changed now.

In 2017, Save a Life Foundation, a well-respected non-profit, non-governmental organisation committed to improving road safety, surveyed ten major cities in India. They wanted to know how many people got their driver's licences without a driving test.

The result of the survey? 59%. Yes, almost 60% of drivers in our country's major cities had got a driver's licence without a proper driving test! In Bengaluru, nearly half, 48% of drivers had acquired a driver's licence without a test! Is it any wonder then that Bengaluru traffic is a nightmare? Is Mysuru heading that way too?

It is an open secret that obtaining a driver's licence for young Indians is their first interaction with a Government official, and it's also their first lesson in negotiating the "right price" or engaging a middle man to get Government work done with ease.

When a 16-year-old gets his learner's licence, he also earns a learner's licence on how to bribe. There is a direct correlation between corruption at RTOs in issuing driver's licences and bad drivers leading to death on Indian roads. It has also become a sociological problem as it introduces young minds to bribing their way to success without effort.

This driver's licence corruption, which has led to an increased number of bad drivers and, in turn deaths on Indian roads, prompted Harvard Business School to do a study titled 'Obtaining a Driver's Licence in India: An experimental approach to studying corruption.' One of the conclusions was that 62% of Indian drivers were unqualified to drive when they obtained a licence!

Mysuru is growing slowly but surely, and it's time to prepare, not just the roads but also its drivers and its public transport services. First, the RTO needs to have two tests — one for city driving and one for Highway driving. It is crucial considering that Mysuru is getting a 10-lane expressway to Bengaluru.

Most drivers in India are not aware of many aspects of driving, such as "blind spots" and "lane discipline." Mysuru drivers must learn lane discipline — Stick to your side and not slither on the road like a snake from one side of the road to another. When you have no lane discipline, no matter how big a road you make, it will never be enough.

As per the Report on Road Accidents in India 2019, over 24,431 road accidents occurred due to lack of lane discipline, and over 9,201 deaths happened due to overtaking and when changing lanes. We Mysureans should be aware of this as we will be driving a lot on the new expressway and at high speeds where lane discipline becomes crucial.

We also need to stop making our own traffic rules — especially the flicking headlights and improper use of the indicator. Most drivers assume that if they flick their headlights, they have the 'right-of-way' even on a one-way! Then there is the "over-take please" indicator where they turn on the indicator of the side they want you to overtake them from! It's confusing and dangerous. It feels like we Indians drive as we walk on the streets — all over the place, too close to others and utterly unaware of the space around them.

Makes one wonder do we Indians have a genetic problem? Because Cerebral Cortex, a scientific journal in 2009, reported that a gene variant which limits the availability of a protein called Brain-Derived Neurotrophic Factor (BDNF), which is important for motor skills, was found in bad drivers! People with this gene variant performed more than 20 percent worse on a driving test than people without it. But this may not apply to our drivers because we never took a driving test to get a licence, so it's not genetics; it's corruption.

As more and more vehicles enter Mysuru roads, it is wise if the Government starts with Metro work in the city. Last year MUDA was to undertake a feasibility study if the Metro Neo corridor, a rail-guided mass urban transport system, could be deployed in Mysuru. Sadly, there has not been any movement in that direction.

A city without efficient, clean and on-time public transport will always find its roads are never wide enough and shall always remain chaotic.

As far as Mysuru traffic and bad drivers are concerned, we do as a TV host, said, "In India, you need Good Horn, Good Brakes and Good Luck." It would be best if you also had a good sense of humour to survive it.

The need of the hour is a better driver's test and a non-corrupt licence issuing system, else Mysuru will end up with bad roads, bad drivers and bad press. All bad for our city's tourism and business.

Tourist rush for Ambaari trips

Ambaari bus passing through Chamaraja Wadiyar Statue this noon.

From Feb. 12 till May 27, a total of 3,724 people have taken the bus service, yielding an income of Rs. 5,58,600 for KSTDC. "There is a huge demand for 20 rooftop seats out of the 40 total seats in the bus and there are no takers for other seats. Weekends see extra demand and the demand peaks from 4 pm as it is summer time now," officers said.

The bus covers a distance of 25 kilometres in 90 minutes showing the tourists important landmarks through an audio guide. "Only a couple of destinations are skipped due to safety issues like crossing the railway gate where electric trains pass. We cannot take the risk as it is a double-decker bus and there are overhead power cables," officers added.

Mango Mela

"We alerted the Horticulture Department and they answered back irresponsibly. The least that they could do is to utter some assuring words. They have organised such a big Mela and there is not even a single CCTV camera to monitor crowd movements. Fed up with their attitude, we stood at the Mela gate and warned a few customers to watch out for their mobile phones," she added.

The Police and the organisers must act immediately otherwise people who come to buy mangoes for Rs. 100 or Rs. 150 will end up losing cell phones worth thousands of rupees, she said.

WORD OF THE DAY

Kibosh

Pronunciation: KYE-bosh.
Meaning: Kibosh refers to something that serves as a check or stop. It is usually used in the phrase "put the kibosh on."
Origin: Evidence of kibosh dates the word to only a few years before Charles Dickens used it in an 1836 sketch, but despite kibosh being relatively young in English its source is elusive. Claims were once made that it was Yiddish, despite the absence of a plausible Yiddish source. Another hypothesis pointed to Irish caidhp bhais, literally, "coif (or cap) of death," explained as headgear a judge put on when pronouncing a death sentence, or as a covering pulled over the face of a corpse when a coffin was closed. But evidence for any metaphorical use of this phrase in Irish is lacking, and kibosh is not recorded in English as spoken in Ireland until decades after Dickens' use. More recent source theories include a heraldic term for an animal's head when born with only its face fully showing, and an Arabic word meaning "whip, lash," but as the note at our etymology explains, no theory has sufficient evidence to back it.
Example: "The state Senate last week put the kibosh on up to $60 million more in aid for school districts." — Kevin Landrigan

THE ODD WORD

Karyology
Study of cell nuclei.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Keel over

Meaning: To fall, suddenly and in a heap.
Origin: 'Keel over' was originally a nautical expression. The keel is the longitudinal timber to which the rest of the boat's timbers are fixed, usually seen as a ridge along the middle of the hull. 'Keeled over' referred to ships which had capsized or were laid on their side on land, either way with their keels showing. The phrase originated in the mid-19th century. The earliest reference one can find of it in print is in the Philadelphia Public Ledger, August 1837: We are informed that large quantities of fish are daily pouring from the Lake into the Basins, where they "keel over" and die off in no time.

QUOTE BOX

I prefer highs and lows to an even keel. Moderation is never something I've been good at. —Jenny Eclair
